

ABSTRACT

Disclosed is a deep trench structure for a semiconductor memory device. The deep 5 trench in accordance with the present invention has a cross section communicating with two difference active areas, which are respectively connected to two adjacent bit lines of the semiconductor memory device.